OLDEST OF STATE MOTTOES

That of Maryland Was Adopted in 1648—Enshrined in History of the Commonwealth.

The Maryland suffragists who propose altering the state motto, "Fatti Maschi Parole Femine" (to use the old spelling), are proposing to put rough hands to what should be sacred. The offensive translation, "Deeds are masculine, words are feminine," is not the only one possible. The secretary of state could readily be directed to give official approval to "manly deeds and womanly words," which would give women a recognition they enjoy in no other state motto.

But the best reason for jealously guarding Maryland's motto is that it is the oldest the nation can boast—the date of its adoption is placed in 1648—and is enshrined with Maryland history to a remarkable degree. Throw away the Baltimore motto and Maryland might as well turn the portrait of George Calvert, first Lord Baltimore, to the wall.

There are other state mottoes that are open to attack. Alabama's "Here We Rest" suggests an obvious joke. So does Washington's "By and By." Virginia's motto recalls John Wilkes Booth. New York's rather tawdry declaration by Longfellow which it inspired, and those of several other states—like Kansas' "Ad Astra Per Aspera"—the rhetoric of commencement. While these states cleave to their mottoes Maryland may well be boastful of hers and its associations.

HOT "SHOT" FOR NEIGHBOR

Probably Woman Wished She Had Not Irritated Mr. Dobson While He Was Worried.

Mr. Dobson came home early in the evening, but 17 sheets in the wind. He negotiated the steps to his front door on his hands and knees. Finally, when he reached the top, he fished his keys from his pocket without much difficulty, but the keyhole, of course, could not be found.

After several attempts to locate it, in which he failed miserably, he happened to look over his shoulder, and discovered the woman next door watching him.

"Wash you wan?" he demanded. "I don't want anything," she replied, but didn't go away.

The man made another attempt to find the keyhole, but being again unsuccessful turned in disgust and asked the neighbor if she had borrowed the keyhole.

"Of course not. I don't know anything about your keyhole except that you can't find it," said she.

"Well, you've borrowed everything else we've got, so I thought maybe you borrowed our keyhole," came the reply.

Peter and Paul Were in Rome.

According to the evidence and discoveries of two famous archaeologists of Rome, Professors Grossi Condi and Orzelle Maruchelli, no longer remains any doubt that the Apostles Peter and Paul both went to Rome and suffered martyrdom there.

That doubt has been raised several times in controversies between various schools of archaeologists.

"The Apostles Peter and Paul," professor Maruchelli said, "did go to Rome. I have found traces of their burial in a catacomb hewn out of the rock on the Appian Way, behind the ancient church of St. Sebastian."

"There are graves in this underground burying place, which of course prove nothing. But there are also writings on the wall, and these writings all invoke the aid of Peter and Paul, described as lying there."

Famous Mine May "Come Back."

The Comstock lode, one known as the richest silver mine in the world, and from which millions of dollars were taken during the height of its fame, is about to come back to its own. For years the lode was almost deserted, and Virginia City, Nev., lived along in a lethargy that included the slow crumbling of its buildings and the rotting of its sidewalks, until what was one of the most colorful, blazing, excitement-gathering towns in the United States, became a monument to dead hopes and a mockery of its former self.

It has been discovered that thousands of tons of low-grade ore now are standing in giant dumps, and yet other thousands of tons resting in the mines themselves, can be made to yield as high as $10 a ton under modern methods of extraction.

Bulrushes Found of Value.

As a result of a German professor's discovery that the roots of the ordinary bulrush contain as much as 30 per cent of cane sugar, special dredges are now being built for the purpose of harvesting them, reports Popular Mechanics Magazine. The roots grow in thick horizontal masses, and in one part of Germany are believed to underlie everywhere a tract of marshy land comprising 500,000 acres. Though sugar is the product chiefly sought, secondary processes yield alcohol and a nutritive cattle food. From the juice there is made, also, a strong beer resembling porter.

Frivolous Personalities.

"I wonder if Mrs. Gadder knows anything about Flume?" "You'd better not mention the subject to her." "Why not?" "She may think you are talking about something that can be made in a chafing dish."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

OUR BIRTH RATE IS NORMAL

Census Bureau Statistics Show That Births Exceed Deaths by About One-Third.

The census bureau, on the strength of registered returns, gives figures to show that the birth rate in the United States exceeds the death rate by one-third, which is a gratifying fact. We are not one of the nations that need be anxious on this vital point as far as present conditions are concerned. One of the most serious troubles in France is the warning in its censuses that in some years more of its inhabitants die than are born. Some of its neighbors grow much faster in population. This disparity was somewhat noticed in the past, yet without fully realizing the terrible menace involved. The desolated towns and farms of France are a monument to the old census admonitions and the awful sacrifice of young French manhood is far more dreadful than the devastation. Often have the public men of France sounded an alarm on the defective birth rate. It is much discussed now by thoughtful French legislators and writers. A census always demands intelligent study.

The United States grows by immigration as well as births, and our school system tends to Americanize the whole body of citizens. Our schools are a great melting pot for Americans of the future and to increase their proportionate number.

The welfare of children is a great national issue. The birth rate and death rate need continuous attention.

ALL WANT TO LIVE IN PARIS

So Many Foreigners Are There That the Frenchman Is Being Crowded.

The New York Evening Post's Paris correspondent says that in an article in Excelsior a French writer contends that while Paris before the war was the meeting place of all nationalities, it has now become their permanent abode, so that the Parisians are crowded out into the suburbs or unable to find an apartment in the city.

The writer says that if you take a census of the average apartment you will find that it contains "Belgians who left when the Germans came, Russians driven out by bolshevism, French families from the devastated regions who seem to like it where they are. American students with their omnipotent dollars, Englishmen trying to do business and representatives of the Balkan states, Poland, Turkey and other distressed and unsettled regions who are living on the Lord only knows what. Paris is proud of her cosmopolitanism, but is finding it inconvenient when the peoples of the world show so little inclination to move."

Cardinal's Hat Symbol of Office.

The peculiarity of the cardinal's hat is that it is not to be worn. On one occasion only is it to be seen on the head of the cardinal, and that is when the pope himself places it there as a symbol of his own elevation to the Sacred college. When the cardinal dies it is placed in his coffin. The hat is of a deeper red than that of the robe worn by the cardinal. It has long heavy silver cords, each with 15 tassels at the end, hanging on either side. The crimson robes which, like the hat, denote the cardinal's office, are made of cloth which for several generations past has been supplied by a firm of cloth merchants at Bartscheld, near Aix-la-Chapelle. The process by which the dye is distilled is a jealously guarded secret.

Trade With Australia Grows.

Trading between this country and Australia is showing a healthy growth, according to figures supplied to the department of commerce by A. W. Fernin, trade commissioner who is at Melbourne. They cover imports and exports for the first quarter of the current year, and show the imports during that period have been about $27,775,000, against exports to this country of approximately $16,350,000. February exports nearly equaled in value the totals for January and March, and in that month the outgoing shipments exceeded the imports. In the same month, however, the value of the imports was less than half of the goods brought in during March.

Making It Homelike.

On Dolley's birthday she was presented with a baby bulldog, and her delight was delicious to behold.

It was very young, and she insisted upon taking it to bed with her, but the next morning she was looking very tired.

"Haven't you slept well, darling?" asked her mother.

"No, mummy," said Dolley. "Nelson was crying in the night for his mummy, so I kept awake with him for company, and I made awful faces all night to make him think I was his bulldog, mummy to comfort him."—Answers, London.

Aerial Taxicabs in Canada.

Seventeen aerial taxicab companies are being formed in western Canada, and a number of these already have been licensed by the air board. Four commercial flying companies have been formed at Winnipeg, and there are companies at Regina, Moose Jaw, Saskatoon, Edmonton, Hanna (Alberta), Calgary, Lethbridge, Banff and in Vancouver. Aerodromes are to be built at Viridian and Vancouver. Passenger flying is the first object of these companies, and mail carrying and distribution for large shops are expected to follow.
